HOUSE DEFEATS HUMANE BILLS

Two Measures Drafted by California Humane Societies Fail in the Lower Branch While Others Are Adopted

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Two bills drafted by the humane societies and sponsored by Senator Bates who secured their passage in the upper house were defeated today in the assembly and thirty-four other senate bills for the most part county government acts and minor amendments to existing laws were passed and sent to the governor. The senate file was cleaned up and adjournment was taken until Monday while the water commission bill which it is thought will cause another heated debate was untouched.

One of the defeated bills provided for the more humane handling of poultry during shipment and the other prohibited the sale of worn-out horses.

The senate adjourned tonight to meet on Monday at 11 a. m. after a day devoted to almost entirely routine business, consideration of two measures in which great interest is manifested having been postponed until Monday.

One bill introduced by Senator Lyon of Los Angeles is to regulate the hours of workmen and safeguard the health of women working in factories, stores, hotels and telephone offices. The committee on that action on the measure be postponed and made a special order of business to permit consideration when all interested can be present.

Legislative investigation of the office of Secretary of State Jordan was concluded today so far as the taking of evidence and hearing of witnesses was concerned. The committee was unable to obtain the transcripts of the records till Monday and the chairman told the attorneys he was unable to approximate the length of time which would elapse before a formal report would be ready for the senate and assembly.

The last witness was Secretary Jordan whose examination lasted for several hours.

PROGRESSIVES ARE DEFEATED THEN ASSAILED

New Democratic Member of House from Illinois Calls Upon New Party to Stand by the Party Pledges

THEN POINTS TO UNDERWOOD BILL

In Pittsburg, Michigan Senator Offers Ungloved Hand of Friendship in Effort to Rejuvenate the Republican Party

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, April 26.—Confronting the progressive members of the house with the plank of the national platform of their party, pledging them to immediate revision of the "excessive tariff schedules" without waiting for their proposed non-partisan tariff commission, Representative Lawrence B. Stringer, the new member from Illinois, called upon their party representatives in the house tonight to support the Underwood bill if the progressives wish to carry out the party declarations.

First defending the progressives against onslaughts by both democrats and republicans and declaring that they represented more than four million voters and had a right to claim their party the "second great party of this nation," the Illinois democrat emphatically denied that they represented the "protection party."

Both speakers at today's meeting of the American Society of International law maintained that the United States is under moral as well as international obligation to submit the Panama tolls controversy to arbitration. It was also held by several speakers that congress should at once repeal the tolls exemption act and submit the subject to diplomatic negotiation. Harris Taylor, former minister to Spain, declared upon the settlement of the controversy hinged the century old friendship between the United States and Great Britain and voiced an earnest plea to congress to repeal the tolls act and permit diplomatic negotiations for an amicable adjustment of the question.

The officers for next year were elected as follows: John Root of New York, president; vice presidents, Chief Justice White, William R. Day, Philander C. Knox, Andrew Carnegie, Joseph H. Choate, John W. Foster, George Gray, William H. Taft, William H. Morrow, Richard Olney, Oscar S. Straus, Jacob M. Dickinson, William J. Bryan and Horace Porter.

James Brown Scott was re-elected secretary and Chandler P. Anderson treasurer.

A banquet held tonight closed the meeting.

For Reunited Party

PITTSBURG, April 26.—United States Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, addressing the American Republican club here tonight on the occasion of its annual Grant day banquet pleaded for a re-united republican party and to those who strayed from it in the last national campaign extended their "ungloved hand" on the genuine part of friendship.

The senator in prefacing his reply reviewed the record of the party while it was in power, drawing upon the treasury department figures to illustrate his point. A comparison was also made of the proposed policy of the present administration to the new tariff.

"To those republicans who felt it their duty to divide the forces of the republican party in the last campaign," said the senator "and to give the democratic party the only possible opportunity for success, I extend the ungloved hand of genuine party friendship, and ask them to accept it as the token of my strong desire to work with them in re-uniting and rejuvenating the party which we have all supported in the past."

WILSON IS RESTING.

Spends Week End on Presidential Yacht Cruising on Potomac.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—President Wilson is resting tonight on the presidential yacht Sylph somewhere on the Potomac River near Chesapeake Bay. He went into retreat early today for the week end and so complete was the arrangement to give him seclusion that the commander of the vessel had not reported her position up to late today, although he was in wireless reach of the navy yard.

The president went away to get diversion from the strain of duties. Dr. Cary Grayson, one of the naval aides at the White House who has been looking after the president's health advised the boat trip and Wilson went cheerfully leaving behind documents and letters of all kinds. He took magazines to read if the time hung heavy and planned to stop along the shore for a short walk some time tomorrow.

THIS WILL BRING OUT THE SUN—GOOD MORNING, SUN!

RAMONA BORDEN AND HER FATHER ARE REUNITED

Girl Who Disappeared Several Days Ago from New Jersey Sanitarium is Finally Located in a Boston Hotel

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] BOSTON, April 26.—Ramona Borden tumbled into the arms of her father, Gall Borden, the millionaire milk dealer of Los Angeles and New York, today, and brought to an end in safe the family have decided to regard as a school girl's escapade. Half an hour later the father and daughter drove away in an automobile for a destination not made public. Borden is hopeful the affair will soon be forgotten and is determined to protect the girl from further notoriety.

At first Borden and his friends apparently thought the girl was merely playing a prank to plague her father, who placed her in a sanitarium at Pompton, N. J., for a "rest cure," but the failure to identify the women with whom she left has given rise to doubts and fears and Borden's anxiety is keen.

The millionaire at first intimated that no systematic search was being made for the girl, believing her to be in safe hands, but he became thoroughly alarmed later and made a vigorous search in every direction, employing scores of detectives and enlisted the help of the police in every city in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Borden separated in 1909, having disagreed regarding the daughter's health and education.

All efforts to locate the girl having failed, the anxious father was sustained by the hope that the girl soon would reveal her hiding place. It is believed she is now in position to dictate her own terms regarding her future.

Play Hide and Seek

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—For nearly a month, Miss Borden and her friend, Mrs. Helen White, played hide-and-seek in Washington with five detectives who had been searching for the young woman. On April 11, Mrs. White and her two nieces, Misses Violet and Gladys Shelton, and Miss Borden, arrived at the Powhattan Hotel, where they stayed but one night. Later developments showed that they had been going from one hotel to another in an effort to keep Miss Borden from the detectives.

They arrived at Stoneleigh Court last Thursday and engaged a luxurious apartment. Their meals were served in the apartment. The mysterious guests went out only late at night, and then Miss Borden was closely veiled.

Last Monday five detectives called at Stoneleigh Court and at first were

Bixby In Hiding Sends Word He Will Be In Court

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] LOS ANGELES, April 26.—George H. Bixby, the Long Beach millionaire, wanted as a witness in the grand jury white slavery inquiry, was variously reported today to be at San Diego, Point Concepcion and Santa Barbara. But wherever he was, his son, Richard Bixby, as well as his attorneys, said he will be home some time tonight and be prepared to go before the grand jury on Monday to show he was the victim of blackmailers.

One of the newspapers here reported it had found Bixby at a ranch a hundred miles south today, and quoted the missing man as saying the charges made by the various young women so surprised him and had taken him off his feet, and without realizing what construction might be placed on his action he had gone away.

The paper also quoted Bixby as declaring that the connection of his name with white slavery developments in the past week was due to political antagonism. Bixby was formerly county highway commissioner.

Grace Redwine, a young woman arrested last night at Riverside and brought here today, was placed in seclusion by the police officers acting for the county grand jury.

Through her, according to a report, the inquisitors expect to involve other prominent men in the alleged traffic in young women. Miss Redwine is 23 years old and a daughter of a rural mail carrier at Riverside.

refused admittance to the apartment. Mrs. White finally consented to allow them to enter, but Miss Borden had locked herself in an inner room. The door was opened by a pass-key. Miss Borden was led by the detectives to the automobile waiting outside and was spirited away. She protested, the elevator.

Early the next morning Mrs. White cried and struggled all the way down and the Misses Shelton left.

Mr. Borden yesterday sent wireless messages to the steamship Cincinnati to ascertain the identity of a mysterious girl passenger aboard the Hamburg-American liner. The young girl who was small and thin, and in a general way answered the description of the missing heiress, dashed up to the Hoboken pier ten minutes before sailing time and ran up the gangway. She was not registered and was accompanied by a young man who refused to give his name or hers.

TWO FUGITIVES OF BUNCO GANG ARE IN CALGARY

Believed That Entire Party Will Soon Be Rounded Up, While Grand Jury Investigates the Charges Against Policemen

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Two fugitive bunco men, members of the gang the leaders of which made sensational charges that eight members of the local police department were in collusion with them in their operations here and in several Pacific coast cities, have been captured at Calgary, Alberta, Canada, according to a telegram received by Chief of Police White today from the authorities of that city.

The men are Antonio Musino, alias Rasso, under indictment here for complicity in the bunco trick, and Paulino Noeli, alias Albert Gastaldi, wanted at San Jose, where he jumped bail four months ago while awaiting trial on a larceny charge.

Within the past three days the police have been inquiring into the truth of the statement made by Michael Carlo, one of the gang, now a convict at San Quentin, that Musino is one of the two men who murdered Bert Blanchard, a deputy game commissioner, in a meadow near Richmond, Contra Costa county, several months ago.

Noeli's part in the drama of events involves Mayor James R. Rolph of San Francisco and District Attorney A. M. Free of Santa Clara county, in a situation where each questions the others veracity, or at least each other's memory.

Rolph says that Free never spoke to him about the bunco ring, and that their only conversation was on subjects of a personal business nature. Here the controversy rests for a time.

Eight members of the police department who stand accused by the bunco men now in custody here and who are under suspension, appeared before Assistant District Attorney Berry today and asked to be permitted to make statements before the grand jury which is conducting an investigation into the scandal.

CHRISTY GOES AS ORME'S AID TO WASHINGTON

Council of Salt River Valley Water Users' Association Believes It Needs Legal Representative to Lane Conference

WILL PASS EXTRA LAW IF NECESSARY

Appropriating Expenses of Trip—Maximum Acreage Determination Urged in Strong Resolution—More Powerful Council

THE GIST OF THE RESOLUTION OF REQUEST.

Resolved that the council ..... does hereby request George D. Christy ..... to attend the said conference ..... and in conjunction with the president, Mr. Orme represent this association in all matters coming or to come before said conference.

Believing that there is necessity of additional representation at the Washington conference May 1 between members of Water Users' association and members of the reclamation service before the secretary of the interior, the council of the Salt River valley association yesterday requested Legal Adviser George Christy to go to the capital—a request with which he complied last night. He carried certified copies of his resolutions outlining the stand which the council takes on matters referable to the meeting. Mr. Orme, president of the association left the other night with the resolutions of the board of governors, but this presence was not thought sufficient, nor did the council believe that he was truly representative of all the water users. The necessity of a legal mind in the meeting for the Salt River valley was also urged for Mr. Christy's going. The questions of "Why should the legal adviser go?" and "Can the council send him?" were debated on the floor. Chairman Jones thought that if the bill for Christy's expenses to Washington was turned down by the administration, the council as the lawmaking body could pass a special appropriation bill, but this was doubted by Mr. Christy himself. "The council has no power to incur expenses," he said. However he would go if the council asked it, expenses or no expenses. The resolution asking him to go and that (amended) giving him his instructions were passed by unanimous vote of the twenty-one members present.

J. J. Casey a member of the board of governors was present and spoke about as follows, "I think the people want and need Mr. Christy to go to Washington. There are certain points of law involved in this hearing which Mr. Orme cannot cope with. Our representation at the conference will go for nothing if we cannot make it effective by sending our legal adviser."

In a speech of acceptance of the mission, Christy said in part, "The council can only request me to go. This will be necessary to give me official standing. If I went as an individual, I might as well stay home for all the good I could do. I will do the very best I can to represent the case of the Water Users". He touched on such points as reference of contracts affecting the disposition of power additions to the cost of the project and improvements, to the water users association for approval. He believed the reclamation service should consult the governors and council before engaging in any business that would affect the ultimate owners of the system.

Councilman Smoot introduced a resolution which was amended to read as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED, That the attorney of the association is hereby instructed to direct the attention of the honorable secretary of the interior to Sections 12 and 13 of Article V of the Articles of Incorporation of this association and that the said legal adviser is further instructed to request the secretary of the interior to make an early determination of the maximum acreage which, in his opinion, can be successfully irrigated under the Salt River project from all present known sources of water supply, and further, to designate the particular lands the owners of which shall have the first right to apply for the use of said water, and that the secretary be requested in making such designation, to give the preference to cultivated lands.

In debating this resolution, W. J. Murphy said, "It is premature to say the least, to try to fix the lands that shall and shall not be irrigated. With the perfection of the distributing system, the exercise of the proper economy and the development of all the pumping that is so sadly needed to keep the water down in some districts, there is little limit to the amount of land that can be successfully watered. I expect to live to see the day when three hundred thousand acres will be irrigated from the Roosevelt dam and
